When an Iraqi family is forced to flee their home, they can't bear to leave their beloved cat, Kunkush, behind. So they carry him with them from Iraq to Greece, keeping their secret passenger hidden away. This remarkable true story is told by the real people involved, with the full cooperation of Kunkush's family.

After leaving war-torn Syria, 10 year-old Aya moves with her family to Texas, where she must begin a new life full of change. Aya's Home follows Aya's journey as she becomes accustomed to life in America and ultimately learns that even in times of intense struggle, human connection will lift up those in need. A story of hope, love, and unity, Aya's Home shows life through the lens of refugee youth in America and around the world.

Over Under Sideways Down - "Ebrahim is a teenage refugee, he did not choose to bid farewell to his mother for the last time and he certainly did not choose to take the long journey to be granted asylum in the UK." This comic book story depicts the journey of 15 year old Ebrahim as he embarks on a journey for a safer life. The comic strip images serve as an introduction for the discussion topics and activity ideas in the resource pack.

Online Games

Against All Odds is an educational online game about the global refugee experience from the time people are forced to leave their countries of origin to the beginning of their new life abroad. A series of short challenges illustrates the complexity and danger of the refugee experience.

Ayiti: The Cost of Life – Poverty is a game designed to give players a better understanding on how poverty can become an obstacle to education. The game and its associated curriculum were issued by UNICEF and the NPO Global kids. At the beginning of the game you will take leadership of a family in Haiti and assign each member a different role with the ultimate goal to get your children educated while keeping them healthy and happy.

Fleeing Syria - This is an online activity where Yara, Nabil and Ghassan tell the story of how they fled from Syria to resettle in a new country (in Norwegian only). Each case study is composed of short video clips and information on Norwegian and European refugee policies and international law. Two sets of materials are available with suggestions for practical exercises and activism for 13 to 16 and 16 to 19 year olds.

Syrian Journey is a digital project that explores the exodus of the Syrian people. It is composed of three parts: a 'newsgame'; survivor's stories; and discussion about #WhatWouldYouTake. The project aims to bring the audience closer to the plight of Syrian refugees in an interactive and creative way.

“Brothers Across Borders” is a web-based interactive game and movie, accompanied by an in-depth teaching and discussion guide in eight languages.

Two Billion Miles - Choose your route and make tough decisions in this interactive video story, featuring real footage from extraordinary journeys made this year.
